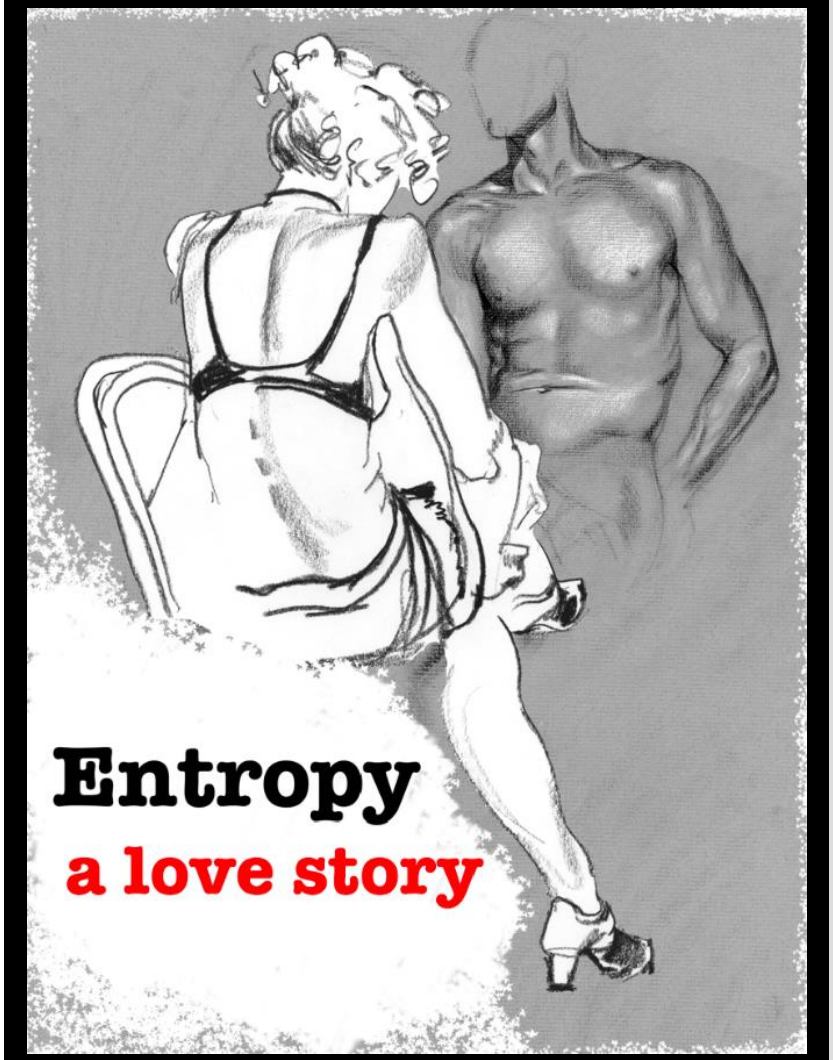
Just one thing: This piece began many years ago in a small apartment on West 3rd St in the midst of a discussion about language over some strong French-pressed coffee and a couple of packs of Camel Lights. The question on the table was communication, the different forms it takes, how language can become a weapon – all the better to jab ourselves with. Over the years it evolved into this memory play – a tribute. Not to one memory or one experience but many strung together and looked at all at once to reveal the similarities. Gender, age, experience, time… these things tend not to matter. The heart has its own space-time continuum and there is no easy way to achieve understanding of others or ourselves. So we play at that here – searching for windows of opportunity. As a wise friend once said to me – you have to get your heart broken. You have to write the letter, make the call, send the message, put your foot in your mouth, feel really awkward, feel really alive. You've got to scream and sing and dance and talk and kiss and cry and cry. It's all good, baby. No worries. No ones failed here. Not now. Thanks for coming out.

DeepSixLounge Productions Presents:



The Whitmore-Lindley Theatre Center

The time and place – New York City in the mid-90s
Actual running time: around 1 hour 15 [which is 75 minutes]

THERE IS NO INTERMISSION

Out of concerns for safety and respect for the company we ask that you remain seated for the duration and refrain from using recording devices or photography of any kind.

Cast in Order of Appearance:

Alice	Lindsey C. Newell
Mother	Maggie Dewan-Smith
Katherine	Chris Lee
Christopher	Matthew Emerick
Jack	Jacob Jett
Young Alice	Kyra Jade Griffin

The Company

MAGGIE DEWAN-SMITH [Mother]: Maggie is happy to return to Acting following careers at UCLA as a Nurse Practitioner, Lecturer, Assistant Clinical Professor and in the US Air Force Reserve as a Flight Nurse which included mobilization for Operation Desert Storm. As a teenager Maggie was an apprentice at Cincinnati's Playhouse in the Park before moving to NY where she worked as a fashion model while pursuing an acting career. After being convinced to 'do the sensible thing', she obtained her Bachelors in Nursing at CCNY, gave up her rent-stabilized apartment in Manhattan, and moved to LA. While working as an RN in the Cardiac Care Unit at UCLA, she was chosen to portray a nurse in 120+ episodes of Group One Medical, a syndicated medical reality show produced by MGM-TV and NBC. Since returning to Acting, Maggie has studied at Anthony Meindl's Actors' Workshop, with Laura Gardner at the Howard Fine Studio, with Michael McGrady, and with several other Acting and Commercial gurus. She makes her home in the SFV with her husband Jack Smith, a retired network and studio executive. However, in truth, the rulers of the roost are their big mutt Bailey and small white cat, Po'okela.

MATTHEW EMERICK [Christopher]: Matthew moved to sunny California to pursue acting for the camera, but just can't seem to stay away from the theatre. He is very excited to be a part of such an original and cathartic play. Matthew is a proud graduate from Missouri State University having earned his BFA in Acting from the Midwest diamond in the rough. He has most recently enjoyed training with the hysterical Groundlings Theatre and School. Regional Theatre includes Noises Off! and You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown (Tent Theatre), Stark Trek Christmas (Martin City Melodrama) and Gypsy (Raytown Arts Council). Film credits include Along the Roadside (Metakwon Filmworks) and No Bullet Soldier (Chan Sohn Productions). Matthew also enjoys wasting time on fantasy football and chasing cars like a puppy dog. www.matthewemerick.com

CHRIS LEE [Katherine]: Chris Lee is thrilled to be a part of this dynamic production pulsing with creativity and style. "... Part of what drew me to this play was the physical elements. Other characters have to feel, I get to run around and play guitar." Other works include Women Inventing Theater III: Connections at the Write Act Repertory Theater and Sex, Relationships, and Sometimes... Love at The Complex. She hopes the audience will enjoy their sojourn in our delightfully mad little world. WWW.THECHRISLEE.NET

JACOB JETT [Jack]: Born and raised in Sydney, Australia, Jacob discovered the arts in high school, performing in plays and musicals. Deciding that acting was something he wanted to pursue seriously as a career, in 2009 he studied at the Actor's Centre Australia for a year. Also, being a trained classical dancer, Jacob performed in a variety of shows, such as 'A Chorus Line'. During this period, he auditioned for and attained an International scholarship to the New York Film Academy, Los Angeles Campus. Originally enrolled for a year long course, Jacob opted that it would be worth his while to stay in one place for a while and continue his studies, completing an Associate Degree in Fine Arts in Acting for Film, graduating in August, 2011. In July 2011, Jacob was handpicked by Shaquille O'Neal to play his lead vampire for a music-driven short film. In June/July 2012, he was cast in the lead role in a dance-driven short film which is being submitted to the festival circuit. Since graduation, Jacob has been continually studying and polishing not only his acting skills in scene study/audition classes with talented, industry professionals, but has been working diligently with his vocal coach and refining and honing his classical dance training.

LINDSEY C. NEWELL [Alice]: Lindsey C. Newell (Enid, OK) - Prior to her departure from her home in Oklahoma, Lindsey began studying acting in high school, attending summer intensives and somehow found her way to the University of Oklahoma where she obtained her BFA with an emphasis in Acting. While at OU she appeared in such roles as "Alice" (Closer), "Julie" (Miss Julie), "Izzy" (Rabbit Hole), "Lizzy" (Pride and Prejudice) and capped it all off with "Maryjo" (A Piece of My Heart) directed by Lou Antonio (Cool Hand Luke, Boston Legal). She also appeared as "Viola" in Reduxion Theatre Company's production of Twelfth Night. Her talents are not limited to theatre, oh no! (though it is her first love), but she has found quite a home with Singletree Productions appearing in all 5 of their features [The Station Family Grave Robber, Simmons on Vinyl, S&M Lawncare, Cinema Six, Roark Comptons: The Motion Picture] in various roles from a drunk girl to a vulgar movie theatre employee. In her first year in LA, Lindsey worked on a few students films, some webisodes and a pilot [as "Kate" in Madison], a 24-hour play festival, a One Act Festival ["Sara" in The Great And All Wet Water Balloon Battle], and finally came to know this Alice. So pay attention now. It is all-important... in the end.

CHRISTINE DEITNER [Creator - Entropy A Love Story]: A native of Western Massachusetts, Christine received her B.F.A. in Theatre Directing and Acting from New York University [Playwrights Horizons]. She has directed Macbeth, The Three Sisters, Tis Pitty Shee's A Whore, Hills Like White Elephants, musicals for children and regional theatre, originals by others [Can't Catch Me Little Man by Sam Deane and Carla Stangenberg, Watered Down by Stephen Spoonamore] and her own [Anus Mundi]. Her short The Space Between was featured at the LA Shorts Fest in 2010 while Bleeding Robot played at the 2011 River Bend Film Festival. She toured North America & Europe as a Stage and Company Manager worked on The Simpsons Movie, EA Game and Universal Studios Ride, for Rob Zombie's The Haunted World of El Superbeasto, with Eleonore Dailly on the 2009 Sundance doc Dirt! The Movie, for Disney on Hannah Montana: The Movie, as a Reader for National Geographic Films, Readers Unlimited and Exclusive Media and recently as AD for G*eronimo Stilton* and PM for The Care Bears at Moonscoop LLC. Her script The Kind of Love is a 2012 Nicholls Quarterfinalist and she is a proud member of the Alliance of Women Directors.

HEATHER LIPSON BELL [Choreographer]: Performer, Choreographer and Educator Heather Lipson Bell works nationally and abroad on stage and screen, in both the classroom and the community. She holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts from the Boston Conservatory. Credits include: New York and Los Angeles Philharmonics; Los Angeles, Dallas, Palm Beach and Boston Lyric Opera companies; Boston and South Dakota Symphony Orchestras; Pasadena Symphony and Pops; the Hollywood Bowl; City Ballet of Los Angeles; Helios Dance Theatre; La Danserie; Wenta Ballet of Los Angeles; Theatre Bethune; South Bay CLO; Cabrillo Music Theatre and Odyssey Dance Theatre. Film_ Credits include two Academy Award Winners: The Curious Case of Benjamin Button and West Bank Story. Currently she is Co-Artistic Director of Teatro Filarmonico; Workshop Leader/Assistant Director & Assistant Choreographer with Los Angeles Opera Education Department; a Movement Specialist for mentally and physically challenged individuals and a Wharton Performance Certified Flexibility Technician.
For more info please visit: www.heatherlipsonbell.com

KATIE BRUBAKER [Set Designer] comes from a military family and has been all over the world. From a young age, she was learning to understand and appreciate history and art. She has always been a fan of theater and played active roles in the theater departments at her schools. Katie made the transition from theater to film after high school when she decided to attend the Brooks Institute of Photography as a film student. In school, Katie enjoyed working in the art department. She worked to create realistic settings and honed her abilities to make something out of nothing. Katie graduated in March of this year with a Bachelors of Fine Arts degree. She is currently working on both film and stage productions as a designer in Los Angeles.

ALEXANDRA PRIGGE [Costume Designer]: Originally from Colorado and Ohio, Alexandra moved out to California in order to pursue her dream of working in the film industry. She graduated from the Brooks Institute in December 2009 with a BA in Feature Filmmaking. Some of the short films she did Costume Design for include, The White Spider, As If You're Dead, Watch Shock Therapy and The Guy Chronicles. Now, living in the heart of L.A., she decided to widen her field, and become involved with theatre as well. Some of the plays she has been involved with include The Maiden's Prayer, and Motion Cures. In June of 2011, she decided to further her education by attending the Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandise. She'll be graduating this December with an AA in Fashion Design, and will then apply for her Costume Design advanced study degree.

J.D. SARGENT JR. [Lighting and Sound Designer] has a Bachelor of Music, from Lambuth University; and a Masters of Fine Arts from the University of Memphis; as well as Second City intensive training in Chicago. Mr. Sargent has wide-ranging professional experience as a director, production manager and technical director, as well as extensive background in lighting, scenic and sound design for productions from dance and opera to musicals and dramatic theatre in educational and professional venues across the country. Companies he has work for include – Theatre West, Aspen Opera Theatre Center, Utah Musical Theatre, Theatre at the Center and has taught theater at Pepperdine University, Indiana University Northwest, Lambuth University and The University of Memphis.

LIZA ALHADEFF [Stage Manager]: Liza just moved out to the West Coast three weeks ago and has been too busy moving and settling to craft something to say here. ☺

Assistant Stage Managers:
TONY CANDELARIA [on Deck]
BRIAN WALLIS [on Video]

Scenic Painters:
LIZA ALHADEFF, TONY CANDELARIA, ERICA HANSON, RAYME PHILLIPS, ALEXANDRA PRIGGE under the direction of Miss Brubaker.

Stage Combat:
BARRETT HILL

Logo Artwork by:
GEORGE STOKES

Slides Designed by:
AL DERBYSHIRE

THANKS TO OUR KICKSTARTER DONORS:

Friends of Entropy

Carrie Couch
Frank Delaney
Jeffrey Johnson
Chris Liang
Beth Morris
James Turnbull
Adam Wollenberg
The Operating Theater

Partners in Crime

Sudro Brown II
Tim Cummings
Jill Ellman
Belen Greene
Michelle Haro
Joette Marks
Sam Deane Mavis
Caitlin Muelder
Silvia Pompei
Leah Russin
Richard Turke

Brothers in Arms

Cecilia
Marcelo
Mei
Lisa Anderson
Janice Flux
Mark Freeland
Tom Hoffman
Cricket Leigh
Cathy Lindstrom
Ande Poehls
Chance Raspberry

True Compadres

Mike B. Anderson
Eleonore Dailly
Thomas Deitner
Peggy Dewan
Samantha S. Gold
Justin Holbeck
Chris Kennedy
Douglas & Lawana Newell
Jack Smith
Josiah Wahlrab

Angels

Wanda Deitner
David Emerick
Basil Mangra

References and Influences:

The core of Mother's thoughts were derived from Etiquette – The Blue Book of Social Usage by Emily Post (Mrs. Price Post) © 1945 and As A Man Thinketh by Dr. William Muhlberg, Retired Vice President and Medical Director, The Union Central Life Insurance Company © 1946
It's fairly clear where we've hit on Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass by Lewis Carroll © 1960 by Martin Gardner
Other literary figures have leant their voice:
The Sinking of the Titanic by Hans Magnus Enzensberger; Atlas Shrugged by Ayn Rand; Tropic of Cancer by Henry Miller; Henry and June by Anais Nin; Madame Bovary by Gustave Flaubert; Robert Heinlein; Hamlet, The Taming of the Shrew, Macbeth, The Tempest and Othello by William Shakespeare; The White Devil by John Webster and The Glass Menagerie by Tennessee Williams
Thanks to Terry and Kat Macneish for use of their poetry and letters.
Entropy notes were lifted from an Introductory University Chemistry course found online at www.ualberta.ca
Authoritative sources used include: The Columbia Dictionary of Quotations © 1993 Columbia University Press; The Concise Columbia Encyclopedia © 1995 Columbia University Press and The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language, Third Ed. © 1992

You Are My Sunshine - copyright 1940 Peer International Corporation, words and music by Jimmie Davis and Charles Mitchell.
Covered by Kyra Jade Griffin and Phil Dumesnil

Tell Me Why – is a nursery rhyme or old love song – depending on the internet site you find yourself on.

Special Thanks to:
Carolina Angulo, Eleonore Dailly and Michael Keeling

We owe a debt of gratitude to the LA Opera for donations to set and prop pieces. We want to trumpet their efforts and commitment to supporting the arts in Los Angeles.

LAOPERA